

Click to prove you're human

Math ain't mathin

Reddit and its partners use cookies and similar technologies to provide you with a better experience. By accepting all cookies, you agree to our use of cookies to deliver and maintain our services and site, improve the quality of Reddit, personalize Reddit content and advertising, and measure the effectiveness of advertising. By rejecting non-essential cookies, Reddit may still use certain cookies to ensure the proper functionality of our platform. For more information, please see our Cookie Notice and our Privacy Policy. Thank you! Rest assured your feedback will not be shown to other users. "Math Is Not Mathing" is a slang term used to describe a situation where something does not add up or make sense, even though it should. It implies that there is a discrepancy between what is expected and what is actually happening. This phrase can be used in various contexts, from personal relationships to professional settings. In the world of finance, "Math Is Not Mathing" can refer to situations where financial reports do not match up with actual profits or losses. It can also describe situations where there are inconsistencies in accounting practices, leading to financial imbalances. On a more personal level, "Math Is Not Mathing" can be used to describe relationships that seem to be going well but suddenly hit a snag. For example, when someone who has been a good friend suddenly starts acting distant or uninterested, it can feel like "Math Is Not Mathing." In the context of politics, "Math Is Not Mathing" can refer to situations where election results do not match up with exit polls or other indicators. It can also be used to describe situations where politicians promise one thing but deliver another, leaving voters feeling disillusioned and betrayed. In the world of education, "Math Is Not Mathing" can refer to situations where students are not performing as well as they should be, despite receiving adequate instruction and resources. It can also describe situations where grading policies seem arbitrary or unfair. In the tech industry, "Math Is Not Mathing" can refer to situations where software programs are not functioning as intended, leading to glitches and errors. It can also describe situations where data analysis is producing unexpected or inexplicable results. Overall, "Math Is Not Mathing" is a versatile phrase that can be used in many different contexts to describe situations where things just don't seem to add up. It can be frustrating and confusing, but it can also be an opportunity to reassess assumptions and find new solutions. "I tried to do my taxes but Math Is Not Mathing today." "My boss asked me to calculate the budget, but Math Is Not Mathing in my brain right now." "Math Is Not Mathing" examples: "I can't figure out how much to tip because Math Is Not Mathing in my head." "I failed my math test because Math Is Not Mathing for me this semester." Examples of when to use swear words: "I don't give a shit about your opinion." or "Fuck off and leave me alone." "I don't understand the instructions for this game because Math Is Not Mathing in the rules." Report copyright infringement Reddit and its partners use cookies and similar technologies to provide you with a better experience. By accepting all cookies, you agree to our use of cookies to deliver and maintain our services and site, improve the quality of Reddit, personalize Reddit content and advertising, and measure the effectiveness of advertising. By rejecting non-essential cookies, Reddit may still use certain cookies to ensure the proper functionality of our platform. For more information, please see our Cookie Notice and our Privacy Policy. « Back to Glossary IndexMath Is Not Mathing is an internet slang term used to express confusion or frustration when a mathematical concept or problem doesn't make sense or is difficult to understand. It implies that despite one's efforts, the logic or logic of math is not aligning with their expectations or comprehension. Examples: 1. I've been trying to solve this algebraic equation for hours, but Math Is Not Mathing today! Nothing seems to add up, and I'm completely lost. 2. My friend tried explaining calculus to me, but Math Is Not Mathing in my brain. I just can't wrap my head around those complicated derivatives and integrals. Synonyms: prison of math, math failure, math not making sense« Back to Glossary Index A user has added this entry to requests for deletion(+). Please see that page for discussion and justifications beyond the initial comment of: "phrase is more commonly rendered in the negative (i.e." You may continue to edit this entry while the discussion proceeds, but please mention significant edits at the RFD discussion and ensure that the intention of votes already cast is not left unclear. Do not remove the {{rfd}} until the debate has finished. the math is mathing (slang, humorous, Canada, US, chiefly in the negative) Something is correct or reasonable; something adds up or makes sense. 2021 June 7, Nylah Burton, "Harry and Meghan's baby name proves they're not the heroes you thought they were. And that's OK", in The Independent[1].Some of the same people who called for the abolishment of the monarchy back during that explosive Oprah interview are now saying how sweet it is that baby Lili is named after her grandmother, how perfectly it fits her, and the math isn't mathing. There is a fundamental contradiction here. 2022 May 12, Jazzyne Robbins, "Please Join Me in This Quick Rant About How Everyone Needs to Stop Talking About Rihanna's and Lizzo's Bodies", in Cosmopolitan[2].Something's been bothering me for about a month or so, and we gotta talk it because the math's just not mathing! On the one hand, we've got folks praising Rihanna for baring her baby bump in a number of unapologetically sexy 'fits. And on the other hand, we've got folks bashing Lizzo for baring her bodacious butt in a number of unapologetically sexy 'fits, [...] 2022 May 24, Zoe Guy, "Hunter x Hunter Creator Mysteriously Joins Twitter, Teases New Installments of the Manga", in Vulture[3].Following intense speculation over the account's veracity, fellow manga artist Yusuke Murata, the creator behind One-Punch Man, confirmed that the account indeed belongs to Togashi. The math started mathing for Hunter x Hunter fans, who are hoping there will be new installments of the manga on the way. 2022 November 22, Valerie Russ, "City's public input survey shows most area residents want a Harriet Tubman statue", in The Philadelphia Inquirer[4].Maisha Sullivan-Ongoza, of the Celebrating the Legacy of Nana Harriet Tubman Committee that opposed the no-bid commission for Wofford, said the group was still studying the city's survey report. But she raised doubts about the interpretation of the results. / "The math ain't mathing," she said. 2022 December 16, Jade Gomez, "Glorilla Addresses Personal Assistant Salary Controversy", in Paper[5].Problem is, she's paying $550 a week. If the math is mathing, that's 28,600 a year, well below the $31,200 yearly salary if one was to work for $15 an hour. That $550 salary also doesn't say anything about overtime, bonuses or any additional covered expenses. 2023 April 10, Ian Kumamoto, "‘Girl Math’ Turned Into A Self-Roast For So Many Communities — And I’m Here For It", in The Huffington Post[6], archived from the original on 2023-10-11:[Image caption:] The math is mathing. 2024, DaVaun Sanders, Minecraft: The Tournament, New York, N.Y.: Random House Worlds, page 27:"It's a very nice organization," she offers. "Might even get my house restored, if the math is mathing. But it's going to take a lot more than them to outsmart the weather. And besides, what if you don't win? How you gonna help folks then?" 2024 February 29, Gretty Garcia, "Everything You Need to Know about Lana Del Rey's Rumored Ex-Fiancé, Evan Winiker", in Cosmopolitan[7]. New York, N.Y.: Hearst Communications, –ISSN, –OCLC, archived from the original on 2024-03-03:The math is mathing, people! 2024 April 1, Josh Enomoto, "The Math is 'Mathing' for Plains All American Pipeline (PAA)", in The Globe and Mail[8], Toronto, ON: The Woodbridge Company, –ISSN, –OCLC, archived from the original on 2024-06-16:At the core, the math appears to be "mathing" for Plains All American Pipeline (PAA), as the kids like to say. What does the expression "the math isn't mathing" mean? See a translation Hide translation Report copyright infringement Edited by Azizi PowellThis pancocojams post presents information about the saying "The math ain't mathin".The content of this post is presented for linguistic purposes.All copyrights remain with their owners.Thanks to all those who are quoted in this post.-snip-Click ***THE HISTORY OF AND MEANINGS FOR THE SAYING "THE MATH AIN'T MATHIN" 1. math is not mathing [top ranking entry out of a total of three entries as of Nov. 8, 2024]when something just doesn't add up.Talking about mental health and then making suicide jokes? The math is not mathing by harleyinhiawaii June 26, 2021.-snip-up vote: 110; down vote 8**2. math ain't mathing [2nd ranking comment]When something simply does not add up.He doesn't pay his rent but he's Venmo requesting me for the round he bought last night... the math ain't mathing.by lovEdrUnkduCk12 January 14, 2022.-snip-up vote -27; down vote 7**The math ain't mathing [3rd ranking comment]When something doesn't add up. Usually used in situations where you are a little bit skeptical.When Tasha called out today she said she was sick. So why did Jane show me her Snapchat story and she is at six flags? The math ain't mathingby BussyPounder69 July 30, 2023r/PetPeeves1. CharacterPolicy4689, 2023"The phrase "the math ain't mathin""-Bit AnnoyedIt just sounds stupid.90% of the time when I hear the phrase it's in reference to some insane flat earth conspiracy theory. "The moon landing was faked. The math ain't mathin!"People say it's AAVE but I'm convinced it was invented by terminally online white people who think that's how black people talk.**2. RobertFellucci, 2023"What? How do you get to it being a race thing? Your math ain't mathin'."**3. [deleted], 2023"Yeah, math is universally hated among the entire human race. No but really why is the implication that other races revolve around what black people do."**4. Paintguin, 2023"I've never heard of it"**5. Ariyinke, 2023"The linguistic term for this is denomininalization or 'verbing'. It is semi-frequently used in AAVE."**6. Sea Masterpiece9079, 2024"I heard it from black people. I'm White. My grammar is awful so when I hear things I check things before I say them LOL I'm sure eventually I'll like the way it sounds. I'm also on my way to being an old a** lady. So I'm sure the older I get the more proper I'm going to want to say things?"-snip-This is the way this comment is written in that discussion thread.***WHAT ACCOUNTS FOR THAT PHRASE'S FAMILIARITY AMONG SOME PEOPLE IN THE UNITED STATESThe earliest online example of the use of the saying "The math ain't mathin" is this Facebook page: ttps://www.facebook.com/WETv/videos/the-math-aint-mathin-tsmadsion/2869600986586279/hmc6h22l, march 14, 2021 "The math ain't mathin'. #TSMadsion"-snip-That comment was posted regarding a video clip of a Black woman correcting her mother's addition.**2. African American actress Taraji P. Henson used that phrase during her appearance on a December 2023 radio show. From ♦️Taraji P. Henson in Tears While Saying "The Math Ain't Mathing" Due to Pay Disparity in Hollywood" by Chris Gardner, December 20, 2023"Taraji P. Henson broke down in tears during an appearance on Gayle King's Sirius XM radio show when asked whether she has plans to quit acting. "Are you thinking about it?" King asked the Oscar-nominated actress while she was seated next to Blitz Bazawule and Danielle Brooks to promote their film 'The Color Purple. The question caused Henson to pause, cover her eyes with one of her hands and tear up. "I'm just tired of working so hard, being gracious about what I do, getting paid a fraction of the cost. I'm tired of hearing my sisters say the same thing over and over. You get tired." [...] Henson continued the subject by telling King that "the math ain't mathing" when it comes to her salaries and supporting the team of people that work with her and for her. "When you start working a lot, you know, you have a team. Big bills come with what we do. We don't do this alone," she explained. "There's a whole entire team behind us. They have to get paid.[...]A Black Lady Sketch Show creator Robin Thede posted a thread encouraging her followers to watch the interview and then took a moment to break down the math that comes with taxes, commissions to agents, managers and lawyers and fees for employees. "This woman is OSCAR NOMINATED — imagine the struggle for 99% of the rest. Maybe folks won't relate but that's also the issue — being misunderstood and people just assuming they're 'rich.' So next time yall see an actor working at Trader Joe's, maybe it will hit different," she shared before praising Henson on a personal level."...****3. Some online "memes" pages use the saying "The math ain't mathin" to give examples of "bad math" or math bugs/errors. Examples of this are ♦️r/mathmemes, (bad math), 2023and ♦️R/stream 2023 (math errors/bugs), 2023****4. The saying "this math ain't matchin" is used on this "memes" page to refer to people feeling old when they remember when certain products or certain movies first came out. The fact that these things used to be "the rage" no longer computes (doesn't make sense anymore for the people who thought that and certainly don't make any sense to the young people nowadays). r/memes, 2022 ♦️****5. "The math ain't mathing" is frequently being used by some Black Americans and by some other Americans to refer to their feelings that the results of the United States' November 5, 2024 election don't add up/appear to be rigged.Click — for a pancocojams post for the post entitled "The Math Ain't Mathing": Post Election Video & Comments About The November 5, 2024 United States Election".That post is just one example of the use of that saying pertaining to the United States' 2024 election since "The math ain't mathing" is frequently used as the title of and in discussion threads for YouTube videos and YouTube video shorts pertaining to that election. ****Thanks for visiting pancocojams.Visitor comments are welcome.