Over €500 million was invested in improvements to transportation infrastructure for the games. A mobile app was developed to facilitate travel by offering a route calculator, and 5,000 agents were deployed at stations and bus stops to assist travellers. A goal of Paris 2024 was to halve the average carbon footprint of the London 2012 and Rio 2016 games. The organisers estimated that more than a third of the greenhouse gas emissions would be from the transport of athletes and spectators. All venues are accessible by public transport and bicycle, with 415 kilometres (258 mi) of cycle paths created to link the venues and 27,000 bicycle racks installed. goal was met, with an estimated 54.6% reduction, representing 1.59 million tonnes of CO2 equivalent. Found from the intertidal zone to a depth of 30 m (100 ft), this species is common throughout the tropical Indian and western Pacific Oceans in nearshore, coral reef-associated habitats. It is a fairly small ray, not exceeding 35 cm (14 in) in width, with a mostly smooth, oval pectoral fin disc, large protruding eyes, and a relatively short and thick tail with a deep fin fold underneath. It can be easily identified by its striking color pattern of many electric blue spots on a yellowish background, with a pair of blue stripes on the tail. This bluespotted ribbontail ray was photographed in the Red Sea off the coast of Egypt. producers Glenn Weiss and Ricky Kirshner to oversee production of the 2023 ceremony.[25] AMPAS president Janet Yang and CEO Bill Kramer remarked that they looked "to deliver an exciting and energized show" with Weiss and Kirshner.[26] Two months later, comedian and talk show host Jimmy Kimmel was announced as host of the gala. "Being invited to host the Oscars for a third time is either a great honor or a trap," Kimmel stated in a press release regarding his selection. "Either way, I am grateful to the Academy for asking me so quickly after everyone good said no", he concluded.[27] Furthermore, AMPAS announced that all 23 categories would be presented live during the gala. The announcement came in response to an internal survey which indicated negative feedback regarding the previous year's gala.[28] In light of the Chris Rock-Will Smith slapping incident during the previous year's telecast, AMPAS announced that the organization hired a "crisis team" in the event a similar altercation or if an unexpected fiasco arose.[29] In an interview published by Time magazine, Kramer explained: "We have a whole crisis team, something we've never had before, and many plans in place. We've run many scenarios. So it is our hope that we will be prepared for anything that we may not anticipate right now but that we're planning for just in case it does happen."[30] The Dolby Theatre stage on the day of the ceremony and related events. Rickey Minor served as musical director for the ceremony.[31] Production designers Misty Buckley and Alana Billingsley, who were the first women-led design team for an Oscars telecast, designed a new stage for the show.[32] According to Buckley and Billingsley, the set utilized several LED panels that were used to display the category names, winners' names, or images from the nominated films.[34] Notably, the arrivals area along Hollywood Boulevard outside the Dolby Theatre was lined with a champagne-colored carpet was utilized for the gala. According to red carpet consultant Lisa Love, the production team chose a lighter shade of carpet color in order to not clash with a sienna-colored tent erected to shield attendees from the sun or potential rain. She also added that the shades of color for both the carpet and tent were inspired by "watching the sunset on a white-sand beach at the 'golden hour' with a glass of champagne in hand, evoking calm and peacefulness".[35] Lady Gaga was initially not scheduled to perform her nominated song "Hold My Hand" from Top Gun: Maverick due to prior commitments involving her role in Joker: Folie à Deux. On the morning of the ceremony, however, it was reported that Gaga would perform at the ceremony.[36] Meanwhile, actress Glenn Close, who was originally scheduled as a presenter during the gala, canceled her appearance due to a positive COVID-19 test.[37] When the nominated for Best Picture had earned a combined gross of $1.57 billion at the American and Canadian box offices at the time. Top Gun: Maverick was the highest-grossing film among the Best Picture nominees with $718.7 million), The Banshees of Inisherin ($9 million), The Banshees of Inisherin ($9 million), Tar ($5.6 million), Triangle of Sadness ($4.2 million), and Women Talking ($1.1 million). [40] Andrea Riseborough's Best Actress nomination for To Leslie was controversial amongst critics and pundits, as Momentum Pictures, the film's distributor, did not fund a conventional advertising-driven awards campaign for the film. Instead, director Michael Morris and his wife, actress Mary McCormack, organized a "celeb-backed campaign" to get Riseborough nominated.[41][42] They contacted friends and colleagues in the entertainment industry, asking them to view the film and share it with others if they enjoyed it.[43] Morris and Riseborough also hired publicists to coordinate the efforts. While not initially regarded as a serious contender, the campaign raised Riseborough's nomination was of the film during voting for the Academy Award nomination was of the film during voting for the film during voti announced on January 24, which the Los Angeles Times called "one of the most shocking nominations in Oscar history".[43] After her nomination was announced, speculation arose that the tactics might have violated AMPAS rules against directly lobbying voters.[46] A post on the film's Instagram account was noted by several AMPAS members for possibly violating a rule prohibiting "[singling] out 'the competition' by name" by featuring a quote from film critic Richard Roeper, who praised Riseborough's performance as better than Cate Blanchett's in Tár, a fellow nominee for Best Actress.[47] On January 27, the Academy announced a review of the year's campaigns "to ensure that no guidelines were violated, and to inform us whether changes to the guidelines may be needed in a new era of social media and digital communication". [48] The Academy has rescinded nominations for nominees who participated in unsanctioned campaigning. However, there were no reports that Riseborough had been involved in such, or that any Academy members had lodged formal complaints about the campaign's behavior. [48] On January 31, the Academy concluded its review by pledging to address "social media and outreach campaigning tactics" which they said caused "concern", but confirming that Riseborough's nomination would be retained. [49] Following the controversy, the Academy introduced new campaigning rules and clarifications in May 2023.[50] Variety columnist Owen Gleiberman wrote: "It didn't overstay its welcome, and it left you feeling that the world's preeminent awards show, all doom-saying punditry to the contrary, is still, on balance, a very good thing." era, whether for social media, professional presentations, or personal projects. While there are numerous advanced graphic design software available, you might be surprised to learn that the tool embedded in Windows— Microsoft Paint—has been enhanced in Windows 11, allowing users to efficiently merge images. This guide will walk you through the step-by-step process, make sure you have your two selected images ready. You can easily find MS Paint by searching for "Paint" in the Start menu. Click on the icon to launch the application. The interface of MS Paint in Windows 11 environment. Step 1: Opening the First Image Launch MS Paint: Start by opening the application from the Start menu. Open the First Image: Click on the "File" menu located at the top-left corner of the program. Select "Open" and navigate to the directory where your first photo is saved. Choose the image and click "Open." It will now appear on your canvas. Step 2: Adjusting Canvas Size Before you proceed to the second image, you might need to adjust the canvas size to accommodate both images. Canvas Size Adjustment: Navigate to the bottom-right corner of the canvas width or height. Alternatively, you can go to the "Resize" option in the toolbar. In the "Resize and Skew" dialog box, opt for the "Pixels" option and input the dimensions you think will best suit both images. Be mindful of maintaining the width-to-height ratio to avoid distortion. Step 3: Opening the Second Image Next, you will bring in the second image that you want to merge. Open the Second Image: Again, click on the "File" menu, but this time, choose the "Open." This opens. "This opens the second image is open, use the shortcut (Ctrl + A) to select the entire image. Copy the selected image by pressing (Ctrl + C). Step 4: Pasting the Second Image onto the First Return to the First Image: Go back to the window where your first image is open. Now, use the shortcut (Ctrl + V) to paste the second image onto the canvas. Positioning the Second Image is open. Now, use the shortcut (Ctrl + V) to paste the second image onto the first one, often with a grid that allows you to move it freely. Click and drag the image to position it correctly. If you need to resize the second image, select one of the corner squares and pull it inwards or outwards to adjust the size proportionately. Step 5: Edge Blending (Optional) If you want a seamless merge, you can blend the edges of the images: Zoom In: For better precision, use the zoom feature (Ctrl + +) to zoom into the area where the two images meet. Select the Eraser Tool: From the toolbar, choose the eraser tool. Adjust the size of the second image to create a smoother blend with the first photo. Step 6: Fine-Tuning the Combined Image Inspect Your Work: Zoom out (Ctrl + -) to see the merged result. Edit and Adjust: If you notice any alignment issues, you can also use the "Select" tool (rectangle or freeform) to select parts of the second image for further adjustment. Step 7: Saving the Merged Image Once you're satisfied with the merged photo, save your work. Saving the Image: Click on "File" and select "Save As." Tips for Merging Photos in MS Paint Selection Tools: Familiarize yourself with the selection tools. MS Paint provides rectangular and freeform selection tools that can help in more precise selections. Undo Feature: If you make a mistake, don't panic! Use the color picker tool to match colors between the two images for a more cohesive look. Use Layers Wisely: While MS Paint doesn't have true layers, you can still work with different images as if they were layers by using the cut, copy, and paste functions effectively. External Resources: If you find MS Paint limiting, consider exploring additional tools or editors compatible with Windows, such as Paint 3D or online applications like Canva or Pixlr, which provide more advanced options. Conclusion Merging two photos in the new MS Paint on Windows 11 can be an enjoyable and straightforward process. By following the available tools effectively, you can create visually appealing merged images that cater to your specific needs. While MS Paint may not offer all the features available in high-end graphic design software, it provides a practical solution for basic photo editing and merging tasks. Enjoy experimenting with your images, and unleash your creativity!
